9-1-1 dispatchers to vote on strike

EMERGENCY Calgary 9-1-1 dispatchers hit the polls yesterday and will continue voting throughout the weekend on whether they should strike.

"There are a couple of issues that couldn't be resolved at the bargaining table, this is the next step in the process," said John Briegel, business manager of IBEW local 254.

However, the two sides have agreed to meet next week to further discuss the issues and try to reach a deal.

Briegel said the discrepancies stem from work-related issues.

The workers have been without a contract since Jan. 4.

Virgin Fest, Blues Fest and Drenched hit city this weekend

AMY GREGSON
for Metro Calgary

Virgin Fest, Calgary International Blues Festival and Drenched are just three of the many popular events and festivals descending upon Calgary this weekend.

With so many choices, there is something for every Calgarian to do this weekend, and that is a good sign according to Terry Rock, president and CEO of Calgary Arts Development.

Rock says the amount of festivals this weekend illustrates the vitality and strengths of the arts and music scene in Calgary, but says the sky is the limit for the calibre of events in the future.

"To try and get something else on the calendar, to convince sponsors and people to spend money on a ticket, the quality of the offering has got to be high," said Rock. "A lacklustre offering isn't going to cut it."

Rock said the World Water Ski Championship, being held throughout the weekend, paved the way by adding Drenched Music Fest to their event and brought big-name bands like Hedley and Finger Eleven to their venue.

Another festival that added big names such as Colin James, Joe Bonamassa and Booker T to their setlist is the Calgary International Blues Festival.

"People are attracted to big names," said Maurice Ginzer, producer of the Blues Festival. "It's a great feeling when you can pull it off and the economics work."

Virgin Fest, taking place at Canada Olympic Park on Saturday and Sunday, is bringing headliners Pearl Jam and Canadian group

Billy Talent.

Other events happening this weekend include Afrikadey!, Marda Gras, and for those who want to stay indoors and try to avoid the rainy weather there is the conclusion of Fringe Festival, which runs until Aug. 8.

Music lover Tatiana Smith, 25, said she had a hard time choosing what events to attend this weekend, but is happy with her choices.

"If the worst thing is picking between Pearl Jam, Finger Eleven or Billy Talent, then it's a good weekend," she said.

Four cops cleared in death of city man

LAURENCE HEINEN

INQUIRY Four Calgary police officers will not face criminal charges following a nine-month investigation into the death of a 30-year-old man.

The Alberta Serious Incident Response Team (ASIRT) investigated death of Gordon Bowe, who died on Nov. 2, 2008, one day after getting into an altercation with four officers.

Police confronted Bowe after observing him "running, jumping, waving his arms and screaming incomprehensible dialogue," after he had broken into the basement of a vacant residence, explained ASIRT executive director Clifton Purvis.

After Bowe failed to respond to verbal commands, an officer attempted to use a Taser.

"It was not successful in making Mr. Bowe compliant in the arrest," said Purvis, noting that one of the two Taser probes didn't deploy properly. "No energy flowed through the device."

The investigation also revealed that Bowe ingested cocaine 60 to 90 minutes prior to his admission to hospital.

"The tragedy of his death was as a result of excited delirium due to the ingestion of cocaine," Purvis concluded.

Calgary acting deputy chief Trevor Daroux said the ASIRT investigation reinforces that the officers' actions were justified.

Henry Burris calls on fans to donate to food drive before game

LAURENCE HEINEN

This Saturday, Henry Burris wants fans to support both the Calgary Stampeders and a worthwhile charity at the same time.

The Calgary quarterback has teamed up with the Calgary Food Bank to promote the seventh annual Purolator Tackle Hunger food drive prior to Saturday night's home game against the Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

"Cheer us on to victory and also cheer on the food drive to winning a victorious battle," said Burris, who visited the food bank yesterday to help promote the event and sort through donated goods.

"It's always fun, particularly when you have such an exuberant personality as Henry Burris," said Martin Cowman, past president and longtime volunteer with the Calgary Food Bank. "He likes getting into the community spirit."

While growing up, Burris always watched his father give back in various

"I'm always going to be involved because if it wasn't for people helping me, I wouldn't be where I am today," said Burris, who's encouraging fans to bring a non-perishable food item or cash to donate to Purolator volunteers.

In return, fans can get their picture taken with the Grey Cup and will have the chance to win two tickets to the 2009 Grey Cup in Calgary.

"Last year, Calgary was generous and donated 42,000 pounds of food to this event," said Jason Edwards, director of sales with Purolator. "This year, we're really hoping to get to 50,000."

Website honours girl killed by falling debris

ONLINE A tribute has been set up online to honour Michelle Krsek, the three-year-old girl who died last week after being hit with debris from a building by the Calgary Tower.

The site, michelleneedjustice.com, was started by friends of the Krsek family, Catalin and Nicoleta Kallo and Vincent Tudor.

"This way, we hope to increase awareness regarding safety on downtown construction sites," said Tudor.

The website features Michelle's story, a place to make comments, newspaper articles and information, as well as a place to donate money to the family. The website is also calling for justice in the little girl's name.

"They don't need money to buy a house or go to Mexico or have a lavish life. They need money now to pay their bills," said Catalin Kallo.

Michelle's father Miroslav and brother Eric were also injured in the incident.

A desperate phone call and bold-faced media reports this week put renewed focus on an Alberta journalist held for ransom a world away.

Conflicting stories from Mogadishu-based news sources have Reporters Without Borders Africa desk correspondent Ambroise Pierre cautioning that seemingly trustworthy information should be viewed with a critical eye.

The same week a woman claiming to be Sylvan Lake native Amanda Lindhout placed a distress call to a Canadian television station, pleading for her government to pay a $1-million ransom, a Somali news agency reported she gave birth, is happily married to one of her captors and is now a devout Muslim.

"There is provocation here," Pierre said, adding Somali news agencies are often tied to criminal organizations.

"(The kidnappers) are attempting to provoke her family and the Canadian government. We should be extremely cautious."

The one-year anniversary of Lindhout's kidnapping falls on Aug. 28, Pierre said, urging the public to keep her memory alive.

Soldiers blowing pay on alcohol: Report

Officials suggest teaching financial skills

They can defuse roadside bombs and take out Taliban fighters but young Canadian soldiers can't seem to hang on to the big bonuses they earn risking their lives in Afghanistan.

Many are blowing their hard-earned danger pay as soon as they get off the battlefield, hitting the bars and partying at five-star resorts on the Mediterranean island of Cyprus, where the military is offering them counselling and "decompression."

Before returning to Canada, soldiers are sent to a plush seaside hotel and spa in the western city of Paphos for five days of rest and relaxation intended to help them adjust back to civilian life.

But military documents obtained by the Toronto

Bump to danger pay

• The 2007 federal budget put aside $60 million each year to increase to $285 per month the danger pay that members of the army receive, meaning a soldier serving on a six-month tour would earn about $1,700 in addition to their base salary.

Star suggest the defence department's preferred method of treating the mental toll of war is taking a personal financial toll on the troops.

"Many of the young soldiers coming out of theatre with large amounts of money were losing it within short periods of time, usually at TLDs (Third-Location Decompressions)," notes the report, written after some 2,800 soldiers shuttled through Cyprus this spring following their deployment to Kandahar.

Military officials who run the program in Cyprus have recommended soldiers receive briefings before deployment on how to manage the extra money they're paid while at war. Lessons on responsible financial skills should be delivered again as soon as those soldiers leave Afghanistan, says the report, which was released through the Access to Information Act.

But the bigger problem is that "abuse of alcohol" appears to be the primary activity of soldiers, according to the military report.

Top military brass nearly in plane crash

POLICY Canada came close to losing its senior military leaders in the near-collision of a government Challenger jet and a commercial jetliner over British Columbia, the Toronto Star has learned.

The April incident is now prompting questions why the military allowed its top brass — including the heads of the navy, army and air force — to travel together in the first place.

But the Toronto Star has learned that the Canadian Forces has no policy on whether commanders should travel apart, a failing that exposes the military to serious risk in the event of an accident, one expert said.

Premiers back PM on Buy America issue

Canada's premiers are firmly behind Prime Minister Stephen Harper in his bid to counter protectionist trade policies being adopted in the U.S.

In a rare show of unity, premiers of all political stripes yesterday vowed to help Harper as he fights the so-called Buy America provisions being applied by American state and local governments that prevent Canadian companies from bidding on projects funded by President Barack Obama's $787 billion US stimulus package.

Harper is to meet with Obama on Sunday and he is expected to tell the president Canada is ready to move ahead in the effort to neutralize the Buy America problem.

This will lay the groundwork, sources say, for International Trade Minister Stockwell Day to send a letter to U.S. Trade Representative Ronald Kirk next week indicating that Ottawa is ready to begin negotiations aimed at solving the issue.

Roadside bombs kill 10

AFGHANISTAN Two roadside bombs in Afghanistan's most violent province killed five revellers heading to a wedding and five policemen, officials said on Thursday.

The first bomb struck a family heading to a wedding in a tractor on Wednesday in volatile Helmand province's Garmsir district, where a new force of U.S. Marines has been battling Taliban guerrillas since launching a major operation last month.

Earlier on Thursday Afghanistan's Interior and Defence ministries had put the toll from the wedding attack at 21 dead.

But officials lowered the toll to five after investigating further, Helmand police chief Asadullah Sherzad said.

"Because of the remoteness of the area we did not have accurate information in the morning.

The toll of five killed and five wounded is precise information and that comes from an investigation by our team," he told Reuters by telephone.

The second bomb exploded near a police vehicle on Thursday in Naad Ali district, also in Helmand, killing five policemen and injuring three.

Violence, already at its worst since the Taliban were ousted in 2001, has increased in the last weeks of campaigning for an Aug. 20 presidential election, which militants vow to disrupt.

Thousands of U.S. Marines and British troops last month simultaneously launched the war's two biggest operations in separate parts of Helmand to seize territory from Taliban fighters ahead of the election. The ongoing operations are meant to expand the government's control of the volatile south ahead of the election.

Attacks may signal new activism

EUROPE Animal rights activists claimed responsibility Thursday for burning down the holiday home of Novartis Inc. chief executive Daniel Vasella, as Swiss police said a second grave of his family had been desecrated.

Vandals sprayed a Vasella family gravestone with the slogan "Drop HLS Now," police said, a reference to the British animal-testing laboratory Huntingdon Life Sciences (HLS) that has been a major target for protests by animal rights activists.

Vasella's Austrian holiday home caught fire on Monday. The cemetery attacked last week was the same where Vasella's parents' grave was desecrated and an urn containing the ashes of his mother stolen.

In a statement posted on a direct action website, the group said they had gas bombed Vasella's hunting lodge. "Understand this: this will continue until you sever all ties with Huntingdon Life Sciences. We will attack your private life wherever possible," the statement said.

"We see this as an escalation. There have been more and more of these types of incident and attacks," a Novartis spokesman said.

The attacks on drug maker Novartis may mark a revival of animal rights activism in Europe, which reached a peak in Britain before the introduction of new police powers five years ago.

Postcard drive to support dissidents

CHINA Chinese web users have launched a postcard campaign to support dissidents in prisons and to protest against their detention, one of the organizers told Reuters.

Beijing is tightening its grip on the country's activist community, which has come under intense government pressure ahead of the celebrations for the 60th anniversary of the People's Republic in October.

Advocates told web surfers and friends to write "Your mother calls you back home for lunch" on the postcards.

"It is a metaphor for freedom," magazine editor Ran Yunfei said.

Invisible barriers remain for women

Wendy Cukier

Equal Voice has renewed its efforts to rectify the underrepresentation of women in political office. In 2007, Quebec Premier Jean Charest broke new ground with the first cabinet in North America to have equal representation of women.

But Canada is 48th in the world with 21 per cent women in Parliament, a marginal increase from 18 per cent in 1993. Gendered notions of leadership are deeply engrained in our culture and reinforced at every turn. Media coverage of female leaders — whether former prime minister Kim Campbell or U.S. Democratic leadership candidate Hillary Clinton — reveals subtle but profound biases. They are held to a higher standard and less likely to be recognized for their achievements. As Ann

Richards, the late governor of Texas, said, "Ginger Rogers did everything Fred Astaire did. Backwards and in high heels."

Hidden assumptions reinforce the "glass ceiling" across sectors. In spite of undeniable progress — women now comprise 30 per cent of senior managers in large banks in Canada compared to seven per cent in 1991 — invisible barriers remain.

A study of Canadian managers by Ryerson's Diversity Institute and Catalyst showed corporate women believed they were held to a higher standard. Helman and Hayes confirmed that women's achievements are usually devalued. Research shows they must be more "likable" than men and are often punished for behaviours that are rewarded in men. "Strong" females are generally disliked while assertive men are "admired." "He is decisive. She is a b—." When women are labelled "control freaks," men, acting the same way, are seen as "highly committed."

At the same time, the socialization of girls tends to limit expectations and self-confidence. In Grade 3 standardized tests, girls outperform boys in both math and English. But when asked, "Are you good at math or English?" boys were more likely to say yes to both. This confidence gap continues as they climb the corporate ladder — women are less likely to broadcast their achievements than men and are less likely to negotiate for raises and promotions. They are more likely to blame themselves for failures and share the credit for successes than men.

In spite of the undeniable progress, there is still work to be done and it must focus on multiple levels. Among the priorities? Representation of women leaders in the media; policies and practices in organizations; and early education to ensure girls aim high, and give and take credit where credit is due.

Wendy Cukier is the associate dean of the Ted Rogers School of Management at Ryerson University, and the founder of Ryerson's Diversity Institute.

Young males hit hard by unemployment

UrbanCompass

Janice Paskey

metronews.ca/paskey

Sarah Palin can see Alaska from her window. This is what I see. Young men. Not working. Unemployment for 15- to 24-year-old Calgary males is 17.3 per cent. At the beginning of July, they were the worst hit group in Alberta. New labour figures are out Friday and they are unlikely to change a harsh fact. The mighty have fallen. Young men are at home, puttering. Who are they? There's the student across the alley. Home from the University of Lethbridge, he's been hammering away in the garage. Last year, he worked construction. This year, no such luck. So he's building small projects, including a bike jump for us.

His mom comes to check. Has the job with an oil company worked out? No, he says, it doesn't want to train someone going back to school.

At the beginning of summer, young men faced unemployment five points higher than females. The guys are squirming: Parents and girlfriends are on their collective cases. A government spokesperson tells me there's concern Alberta youth are not "skilling up."

Even retail has its bite. One street over is a university student home from Vancouver. Last summer, he worked at a grocery store. This season, it doesn't need students.

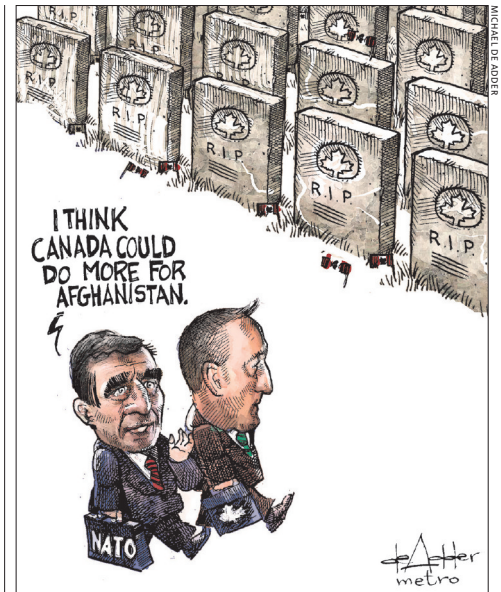

To the west, my neighbour, newly graduated from SAIT, tells me he thinks it will take a while to find work. A close friend calls. Her university-bound son, too, is not "skilling up." His folly? A summer job with Petcetera. It's in receivership; he's laid off.

When it comes to university degrees, only four out of 10 male youth up to age 24 have one. Yet employment prospects and income increase with education. For years, Alberta's male high school graduates made great money doing labour. Why go to college or university when the tuition costs and cost of living kept rising? Alberta benefited from their effort; now we need enough places at our colleges and universities, and ample loans and grants.

One lost summer won't result in a lost generation. Young men, puttering? It's not our way.

Credit delinquency soaring

Canadians are missing credit payments at "an ever-increasing rate," fuelling a 24 per cent jump in annualized national delinquency rate in June, says a new report by Equifax Canada.

The credit bureau released data Thursday showing the average delinquency rate for Canada was 1.56 per cent at the end of June. In addition to the double-digit year-over-year increase, that rate rose three per cent over the prior month.

Equifax defines delinquent bills as those that are at least 90 days overdue. Its data show that Nova Scotia has the highest delinquency rate among the provinces at 2.09 per cent, while Saskatchewan had the lowest at 1.24 per cent. Ontario's rate was

Highest city rate

• Toronto continues to have the highest city delinquency rate at 2.03 per cent, even though its yearly increase rate is 20.12 per cent, which is below the national average.

1.78 per cent, according to the report.

Alberta and British Columbia, meanwhile, continue to enjoy delinquency rates that trail behind the national average at 1.46 per cent and 1.35 per cent, respectively. But among the 10 major Canadian cities Equifax tracks, Calgary experienced the biggest jump; its delinquency rate posted an annualized hike of 35 per cent to 1.36 per cent.

Ice cream and Tim's java: A perfect pair?

FOOD The marriage of Tim Hortons Inc. and Cold Stone Creamery, the United States' sixth largest ice cream vendor, is going so well the coffee and doughnut chain says it may open more than the 50 stores it planned for this year.

The partnership, announced last February, is one reason Hortons' business is picking up in the U.S., where the Canadian icon faces better-known rivals.

The company as a whole managed to carve out moderately higher profits and sales, despite stiffer competition in Canada from second-ranked McDonalds Restaurants. The company has warned, however, that it may have to raise prices in Canada to meet year-end goals. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Business in brief

WIRELESS BCE Inc., Canada's biggest telecommunications firm, reported a dip in quarterly profit Thursday as restructuring costs weighed and the pace at which it added new wireless subscribers slowed drastically due to the weak economy. BCE said it earned $372 million in the second quarter, down from $392 million in the same period a year earlier. Earnings per share were unchanged at 45 Canadian cents.

TRAVEL WestJet Airlines Ltd posted a 66 per cent drop in quarterly earnings Thursday as a weak economy squeezed travel demand, and the carrier said it expects no real improvement this year in revenue per seat mile. Still, the results at Canada's No. 2 airline were better than expected, helped by lower fuel costs and stronger than anticipated unit revenue, and the company's shares jumped 4.7 per cent in early trade. Westjet said earnings came in at $9.2 million. REUTERS

Take Sushma and Baskar Rao. The software engineer and her chartered accountant husband landed in Canada on January 16 this year, and the very next day they applied for SIN cards and credit cards. Having activated their Canadian banking account while still in Bangalore (India), they were also able to transfer their funds to Canada with great ease – something that was not possible before Scotiabank launched the Scotiabank StartRight™ program for newcomers to Canada.

Baskar was one of the first applicants in India to take advantage of the Scotiabank StartRight Program. “We had an account with Scotiabank in Canada within a week of applying in India, and within two or three weeks, we had remitted funds to Canada,” he says.

“The credit goes to my brother,” says Baskar, 34. “He told me to check out the Scotiabank StartRight Program for newcomers that Scotiabank offers through its branches and in partnership with HDFC Bank in India.”

Rania Llewellyn, Vice-President, Multicultural Banking at Scotiabank, says Canada receives approximately 250,000 new immigrants a year. She adds “While a very significant proportion of these are from South Asia, China and the Philippines, the Scotiabank StartRight Program addresses the needs of all new immigrants, wherever they come from.”

Establishing credit history in Canada is vital

Having worked in the US with KPMG for a year, Baskar says he knew it was important to get his credit history meter ticking as soon as possible. “With the Scotiabank StartRight Program, I was able to do so on day one.”

Sushma has also taken advantage of the small safety deposit box¹ offered free for a year as part of the Scotiabank StartRight Program. “Our focus group discussions show new immigrants place a high value on safety deposit boxes and getting a credit card,” says Pankaj Mehra, Director, India and South Asian Markets. Many immigrants with their inherent faith in precious metals would be happy to learn that Scotiabank is Canada’s gold bank.

“Through our subsidiary - ScotiaMocatta, we are one of the largest distributors of precious metals in the world - we cater to the very substantial gold and jewellery markets in India,” says Mehra. “In the Canadian context, what this means is that Scotiabank clients can invest in gold by getting coins and gold bars, and invest in other precious metals at our branches across Canada”

Getting settled – one step at a time

Baskar landed a job as an internal auditor, a month into the job hunt. “I’d been prepared to take whatever came my way as it is not good to sit idle, so it feels great to land a job in my field.” With the financial pressure off, Sushma was better able to concentrate on her own job hunt. She had met consultants, applied for positions, and eventually landed a job with Research in Motion.

When their immigration papers came through, Baskar says his father and brother advised him to move to Canada with his wife rather than coming alone first, finding a job and then getting her to join him. “Enjoy both the hardships and the happiness together,” they said.

Things which can be overwhelming for a new immigrant were handled with such ease thanks to the friendly and helpful people at Scotiabank. Honestly, I don’t see us facing any hardships,” says Baskar. “Scotiabank helped us skip a few steps by starting us off on the right note while we were still in India – I call it the Dummies’ Guide to Banking! The Scotiabank StartRight Program opened the doors for us to our new life.”

Feeling at home in Canada

The Raos enjoyed their first Canadian winter this year. “Shovelling was fun – I was an apprentice to my brother!” laughs Baskar who was living together with his brother then. Sushma thinks Spring is beautiful and is looking forward to enjoying the beauty of each season as it unfolds – though we feel this summer hasn’t been anything to talk about.

“We love Canada,” says Sushma.

“Bangalore is multicultural in the local sense, Canada is multicultural in the international context. We fit right in. We feel at home!”

Hiring people from within the community

Making new immigrants feel at home are Scotia® advisors like Jaswant Thind, who apply their own experiences as new immigrants in their interactions with the bank’s clients.

With several years of experience in sales and finance in Punjab, India, Thind landed a transition job the day after landing at Pearson International. “When I got my first cheque a week later, I didn’t have an account to deposit it in” he recalls. Today, a financial advisor at Scotiabank’s Queen Street branch in Brampton, Thind advises newcomers on issues vital to their settling in well in their new country.

“I see people who have been in Canada for three or four years and still don’t have a credit card. They come from cash societies where credit card use is still to catch on in a big way. I tell them to apply for a no-fee credit card² through the Scotiabank StartRight Program; and that without a credit history, they will find it next to impossible to get a mortgage, or a car loan.”

He says people often feel more comfortable discussing their finances in their own language and he is happy to speak to customers in Punjabi. “Coming from a similar background, I feel I understand their needs better.”

Aware of the value South Asians place on education, he also advises them to invest in RESPs to finance their children’s higher studies. Thind is active in the community and says people will often approach him at the gurudwara (Sikh temple of worship) or at malls and parks to ask for financial tips. “Coming from a similar background, I feel I understand their needs better,” says Thind.

“At Scotiabank, we realize the importance of building a workforce that truly reflects the communities we serve” says Rania Llewellyn. The Bank embraces diversity in all its facets, and its culture is based on community and teamwork. “We even participate in programs that provide career opportunities to new immigrants”, she adds.

Scotia advisors like Jaswant Thind can serve new immigrants in many different languages.

Defending champion Stampedeers hope to rebound from slow start

for Metro Calgary

It wasn't supposed to be this way for the Calgary Stampedeers. The defending Grey Cup champions entered the CFL season as favourites to cruise to the West Division title and again claim a berth in the title game Nov. 29, a contest they happen to be hosting at McMahon Stadium.

But football doesn't always go according to the script as demonstrated by the Stamps' 2-3 start that leaves them behind both Saskatchewan and Edmonton in the standings. While being stuck in third place early in the campaign is hardly a disaster, head coach John Hufnagel heads much higher expectations for his underperforming club when it hosts Winnipeg on Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

"It's a big game again the way the West is this season," Hufnagel suggested this week. "It's going to be a tight race and we want to be a part of that tight race. To do that we have to get back to .500 and that means we need a win against Winnipeg."

The Stampedeers have suffered injuries to key personnel, including receivers Ken-Yon Rambo, gone for the season with a knee injury, and Ryan Thelwell, day-to-day with a hamstring injury.

CFL PREVIEW

Winnipeg at Calgary

"We're facing some adversity and we have to respond the right way," said Hufnagel. "We always talk about how cyclical the season can be. It's going to have some ups and downs, it's not going to be smooth sailing ... well, it's definitely not that way for us this year. We have to find our own way to get out of this thing and play better football for 60 minutes each and every game."

Fans attending the game are encouraged to drop off non-perishable food items or a cash donation at stadium gates. In return, fans can have their photo taken with the Grey Cup and enter a draw to win tickets to the 2009 Grey Cup game. Less than 1,000 tickets remain for the Cup Clash, guaranteeing a sell-out.

As part of Saturday's Family Day theme, there will be games, face painting, balloons, prizes and giveaways for children prior to kickoff in the Stampedeers' Festival Zone (located on the east side of McMahon Stadium). At halftime, participants from the 18th annual Little Miss Outrider clinic will perform on the field.

Sutton was Canada's Olympic soul

Field of Play

Scott Russell

metronews.ca/fieldofplay

Dr. Gene Sutton didn't look much like an Olympian. She resembled a kindly aunt or maybe your biggest fan. You know, the sort of person that was always there to support you when you played that crucial game or doubted yourself the most. She was there when you competed on your own. You looked up and there was Gene cheering you on — cheering all of Canada on.

She was a big part of the Olympic soul in this country and now she's gone.

For many years Gene Sutton was the unsung hero of the Canadian Olympic Committee, who sat on its executive council and reminded its board of directors that the Olympics should be about more than making money and sacrificing principle in order to win the most medals.

"I call her the conscience of the Olympic movement in Canada," Chris Rudge, the head of the COC, has often said.

As the longtime chair of the Canadian Olympic Academy, the educational wing of the movement, Gene Sutton sent pilgrims to Olympia in ancient Greece to get in touch with the roots of the Olympics.

"It was a life-changing experience for me," recalled gymnast Alexandra Orlando, who competed in Beijing and only recently returned from the International Olympic Academy to learn of her mentor's Aug. 2 death.

"I'm still in shock," Orlando said.

Gene Sutton worked tirelessly in an effort to bring the Commonwealth Games to Hamilton and was a driving force behind the Pan American Games bid for 2015. She taught sport and recreation at Mohawk College and judged gymnastics on a national and international level since anyone can remember.

In 2003, Gene led Team Canada as the chef de mission at the Pan Am Games in the Dominican Republic. Everyone swears she attended every event anyone who wore a Maple Leaf was involved in. She was the constant presence and the consummate cheerleader.

Gene was most at home in Olympia at the International Olympic Academy, a place she had lectured at many times. Maybe it was because she found like-minded people there from all over the world.

"It is the most beautiful and inspiring place I've ever been and I can't wait to get back," she once told me.

Maybe Gene Sutton is on her way there now to be at peace with her Olympic soulmates.

Scott Russell is the Host of CBC Sports Weekend seen Saturday afternoons. He has covered professional and amateur sports including nine Olympic games and numerous world championships.

Bana, McAdams in sync with The Time Traveler's Wife

Movie feature

If there's one thing Eric Bana and Rachel McAdams appear to share, it's timing.

As they let out a perfectly synchronized, off-screen chuckle — his, a guffaw, hers a dainty peal — you're momentarily intoxicated by their chemistry.

And you almost forget their upcoming film, The Time Traveler's Wife, opening next Friday, is a bittersweet saga of separation and longing, heavier on the tears than the laughs.

This month, the two breathe life into Audrey Niffenegger's novel, chronicling the relationship between the ill-fated Henry (Bana) and his perseverant wife Clare (McAdams), as they struggle to keep their love afloat despite his unpredictable tendencies to shuffle frenetically between decades.

"I think it was really important to root (our performances) into something that we could relate to and not just this intangible thing," shares McAdams.

"So we tried to step away from the 'time travel' of it all — though Eric can attest to a little bit of that, being from Australia," she continues, mischievously glancing at her co-star, who admits that his trans-hemispheric flights home and regular bouts of jet lag certainly helped in prepping for Henry.

"It's weird, but being an actor is perfect preparation for a character like this because there's a lot of plugging in and plugging out," Bana adds.

novel years ago, the role came with a fair share of trepidation. "We knew we were going to be playing characters that people had already cast in their head, but how do you meld their idea with yours?" she muses. "At a certain point, though you just have to fall into it."

In the spirit of time travel, the two even mulled over eras they'd wanted to be transported to, ala Henry. "The '50s," quips Bana, who carries a fascination for the decades before his birth. "I'd like to see my parents fall in love," reveals McAdams. "And go back to the good old days."

Valentino, warts and all

Valentino: The Last Emperor

Director: Matt Tyrnauer
Stars: Valentino Garavani, Giorgio Armani
Classification: STC
Rating: **★★★★

PHIL BROWN
for Metro Canada

REVIEW Valentino: The Last Emperor offers audiences a privileged glimpse into the life of the legendary Italian designer Valentino Garavani. Filmed over two years, the movie is hardly a flattering puff piece.

Instead first-time director Matt Tyrnauer captures all sides of the designer, presenting not just an icon with a life of obscene wealth and celebrity hobnobbing, but a difficult artist and a perfectionist who lives in a bubble. It's a fascinating portrait that gives audiences a glimpse at a man who normally keeps the world at arm's length.

Of course, that's not to say that the movie demans Valentino. Tyrnauer's ever-present camera simply portrays the man as he is — flaws and all.

The film covers a fairly difficult period of Valentino's life as he saw his company purchased by new owners who would rather hawk overpriced handbags than produce the costly handcrafted clothing that defines the company.

Tyrnauer found an intriguing heart for his film in the symbiotic relationship between Valentino and his business partner Giancarlo Giammetti, who have barely spent a day apart in decades.

Valentino may have all of the neurosis and antisocial tendencies of a true artist, but in Giancarlo he found a strong partner to manage the finances and image of his company.

Together they created a billion dollar empire and an impossibly suave character named Valentino who became a legend in the fashion world.

Julie & Julia

Director: Nora Ephron
Stars: Meryl Streep, Amy Adams, Stanley Tucci
Classification: STC
Rating: ●●●●

ANNE BRODIE
for Metro Canada

Meryl Streep brings legendary chef Julia Child to life in Julie & Julia.

In Julie & Julia, director Nora Ephron weaves together two stories that take place in different centuries, countries and cultures, but inspired by a single force of nature — the iconoclastic Julia Child whose passion for French cooking changed North American cuisine.

Child's story, based on her memoir My Life in France, focuses primarily on her culinary adventures in Paris in the fifties, where she developed her palate, skills and landmark book Mastering the Art of French Cooking (for "servantless Americans").

The second story takes place in blogger Julie Powell's grimy Long Island apartment, circa 2002, based on her book Julie and Julia: 365 Days, 524 Recipes, 1 Tiny Apartment.

Powell set about a Herculean task; to prepare every recipe in Child's cookbook and write about it. The blog became a sensation, then a book, a play and now this film.

Meryl Streep is sensational, eerily spot on as Child, a larger than life character — literally and figuratively — with a booming yet oddly sing song voice and brimming with fearless positivity. Streep is intense and precise; even as she gives space to let Child, an original thinker, break loose from convention.

Adams, in her second project with Streep, plays Powell as endearing and ordinary. A mere mortal who challenges Child, she hopes that her quest will give shape and meaning to her life. But Powell is no Child.

While Powell is conventional, if ambitious, Child is playfully daring in her pursuit of food. Her chapters are sublime, like great French cuisine, and fun. Ultimately, the combination of Streep's performance and Julia Child's personality is so strong that the Powell chapters suffer.

Even the cinematography unfairly compares Powell's poorly lit walkup world to Child's gold toned sensual one. But they tend to balance each other and save us from too much of the other.

Milla Jovovich goes for the kill in A Perfect Getaway.

REVIEW Make no mistake, A Perfect Getaway is a B movie. It's a simple thriller designed to get the heart pumping before gently vanishing from memory as soon as the end credits roll.

However, it's also an uncommonly good one. Director David Twohy (Pitch Black) clearly loves the genre and while he honours his end of the bargain by providing plenty of suspense, twists and a liberal dose of bloody mayhem, there's also a layer of clever self-consciousness running through the film to tickle your brain as well.

It's as if everybody involved is winking at the camera and saying, "Look, we know this sort of thing is stupid, but that doesn't mean you can't have a damn good time watching it."

Steve Zahn and Milla Jovovich star as an irritat-ingly perky couple enjoying a tropical honeymoon. Of course that joy quickly transitions into fear when they learn that there is a crazy couple somewhere on the island killing newlyweds. As always happens in these sorts of movies, they are determined not to let the psychopathic killers ruin their good time and head out on their vacation anyway.

It's all fairly standard stuff, but writer/director David Twohy fully embraces the type of movie he's making and plays with the clichés well.

A Perfect Getaway is essentially just escapist fluff, but it's made with intelligence and humor rarely afforded to this type of film. Sigh... if only all B movies were this good.

Depeche Mode bounces back

SoundCheck

Alan Cross

metronews.ca/soundcheck

The most startling stat anyone can tell you about Depeche Mode is this: Since the group's inception in 1980, they have sold 100,000,000 records. One. Hundred. Million.

Through 14 studio albums, several live records and unaccountable remixes (sanctioned and unsanctioned), Depeche Mode has survived catastrophes that would have destroyed lesser bands. Granted, these catastrophes happen on average every 13-15 years. But when they hit, things get awfully weird.

The first crisis came after Depeche Mode's first tour when chief songwriter, Vince Clarke, decided to quit. The second tsunami surrounded the Songs of Faith and Devotion tour in 1993-94 that involved (a) grand mal seizures; (b) nervous breakdowns; (c) the departure of keyboardist/programmer, Alan Wilder; and (d) the clinical death and long rehab of singer Dave Gahan.

Gahan figured in the most recent crises, too, although he can hardly be faulted for anything. A suspected case of food poisoning picked up around his 47th birthday in early May turned out to be a malignant tumour on his bladder (surgeons got it). The tour had just re-started when Dave suffered a torn calf muscle that was initially mistaken for a twisted ankle. More cancelled shows.

Yet here we were, backstage in Toronto at the first show of the North American leg of their Sounds of the Universe tour. I got Martin Gore (one day after his 48th birthday) and Andrew Fletcher (three weeks after his 48th) at halftime of an intense game of foosball that's happened.

"To be honest," says Fletcher, "this has been most strange since this has been our most successful tour. And also calamitous at the same time."

"It's also ironic because we're in a better state than we've ever been for any tour," adds Gore. "As a band, we were more prepared, physically fitter and two shows in, we had to take a three week break."

"Dave has taken these knocks in a really great way," says Fletcher. "But he's very competitive. He's really been performing like he's never performed. Now we're hoping for a nice run of normal gigs."

About an hour later, Dave bounded into the room, looking fitter than I've ever seen him. "Have a great gig," I said as he left. He paused, smiled and cautiously said "I'll try."

Charles Manson is played by actor Adam Wilson in the new docudrama Manson.

Manson murders' 'lookout'

New docudrama focuses on family member Linda Kasabian

IAN JOHNSTON
for Metro Canada

The toughest part of making the docudrama Manson wasn't the recreating of the brutal Tate/LaBianca murders. It was locating the focus of the film — Manson family member Linda Kasabian.

Kasabian — the so-called "lookout" for the murders — had been in hiding for decades. So it took some professional detective work by the Toronto-based Cineflix to locate her. Convincing her to do the interview was another matter.

"It took months and months to track her down," says executive producer Nick Godwin. "She had vowed never to talk about it again, so we weren't sure she'd be willing to do the interview 'til days before (filming)."

But Kasabian did finally agree, traveling to Toronto for the interview.

"She was very apprehensive and nervous.

In the first day, it took literally three, four hours to get her on camera," says Godwin. "As time went off as a refuge for the desperate Kasabian, quickly turned nightmarish.

Still, though the docudrama's sympathies are squarely with Kasabian — who never personally committed any of the murders — she's isn't let off the hook either.

"It's a difficult line to tread," says Manson director Neil Rawles. "You can't forget the real victims — those who died and their families."

The docudrama also makes a strong case for the mesmerizing quality of Charles Manson — who hobnobbed with many of the day's biggest musicians. They included Dennis Wilson of the Beach Boys, who introduced Manson to record producer Terry Melcher.

Manson premieres on The History Channel on Sunday night

Mad Men Yourself

APPLICATION Fancy yourself as a denizen of Sterling Cooper, the ad agency where all your favourite Mad Men (and Women) work and play? In the run-up to the show's third season premiere (see Mad Men star Jon Hamm pictured), AMC has added this fun little application to its website where you can create your own Mad Men avatar, with a little help from series illustrator Dyna Moe.

DVD Laurent Cantet's unflinching look at 21st century education won the top prize at the Cannes film fest last year but don't ignore it for its arthouse credentials. With real students on board as actors, the French film makes for great drama by simply observing the interactions of a teacher and his street-hardened pupils through an entire school year. Consider it The Blackboard Jungle for a globalized world.

FILM Nora Ephron, the writer behind such mush classics like Sleepless in Seattle and When Harry Met Sally, cooks up another tale of love. And food. In the film, Julie Powell (Amy Adams) takes on the recipes of famed chef Julia Child (Meryl Streep) and blogs about her experiences. Perfect pick for dinner and a movie.

VIDEO The late Heath Ledger channelled Terry Gilliam and Dr. Seuss in directing this video for the Modest Mouse song, available on the indie band's new album No One's First and You're Next. The clip revolves around a singing whale in charge of a ship hunting for swimming humans — reason enough to mourn the young talent all over again.

Inherent Vice

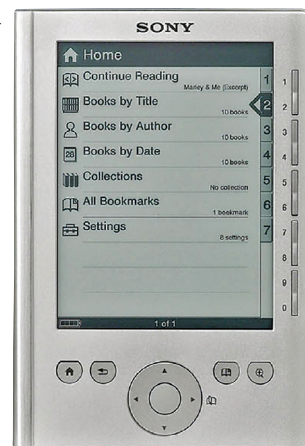

BOOK The reclusive American novelist Thomas Pynchon turns to '70s West Coast culture and noir fiction for his follow-up to the 992-page behemoth Against the Day (2006). The book promises to be as bizarre and byzantine as Pynchon gets.

Sony's Reader

GADGET The Japanese tech giant takes aim at Amazon's electronic reader Kindle with old-school arsenal — cheaper prices. The Reader Pocket Edition will retail in the U.S. for $199, about hundred dollars less than the entry-level Kindle. North of the border, where the Kindle's not yet available, the Reader will sell for $279.

COUPLE Barack and Michelle Obama are always hot news. Now they're cool too. America's first couple edged out many Hollywood stars to make Vanity Fair's International Best-Dressed List. The U.S. president made the list for the first time, joining his wife, who has been named twice before.

Miley fan arrested again

CREEPY A Miley Cyrus fan who was recently released by officials because there was no room for him in jail has been arrested a second time, femalefirst.co.uk is alleging.

The website reports that a 53-year-old was jailed on Tuesday for attempted stalking after he was spotted loitering around the Georgia set location of the teenage superstar's new movie The Last Song.

According to TMZ.com, the man admitted he was trying to make contact with the 16-year-old, despite previously being warned by cops to stay away from the singer-actress.

When he was first arrested in June, police said the man had "had observed Cyrus on her balcony, that he sent her special presents and that he (claimed he) was going to marry Cyrus and even invited the (arresting) police officer to the wedding."

Posh set to join Idol?

REALITY TV SHAKEUP Victoria Beckham has reportedly signed a deal to be a guest judge on American Idol for at least two episodes, prompting speculation that the former Spice Girl is being groomed to replace the outgoing Paula Abdul on the popular show.

"Victoria is hugely flattered, as this is one of the highest profile gigs in America," a source told the Daily Mirror. "Network bosses would love to give her the job full-time and it looks like it's there for her if she wants it."

Bloody shirt a clue in MJ case?

ANOTHER MYSTERY? A white, blood-stained blouse was found hanging in Michael Jackson's wardrobe, femalefirst.co.uk reports.

The women's garment — which still had its $3.99 price tag attached — was not seized as evidence by police officers investigating the singer's death, despite legal experts speculating that it may have been used to mop up the singer's blood, the website adds.

Lawyer Craig Silverman — who is not involved with the investigation — said: "It's pretty extraordinary that a bloody shirt would not have been taken as evidence."

A Los Angeles police spokesperson refused to say why the garment hadn't been taken.

The spokesperson said: "I don't know why it wasn't taken. Our detectives aren't speaking about the investigation so we won't have an answer at the moment."

Meanwhile, Jackson's family has reportedly requested a third autopsy be carried out in order to prove foul play.

A source said: "(His mother) Katherine looked at the second autopsy and she wasn't happy with what it didn't reveal to her."

The Los Angeles County coroner's office has not yet ruled on the cause of death, with results currently delayed indefinitely. Police are currently investigating Dr. Conrad Murray on accusations of manslaughter.

Gay kids fine by me: Brad

OPEN-MINDED Brad Pitt says it's okay if one of his six kids turns out to be gay. "Would it bother me if a child of mine turns out to be gay? No, not one bit," Pitt told Parade magazine. "I want them to be fulfilled. I hope I teach my kids to be who they really are." Pitt also says he stands by his and Angelina Jolie's claim that they won't marry until it's legal for everyone. "I believe everyone should have the same rights. They say gay marriage ruins families and hurts kids. Well, I've had the privilege of seeing my gay friends being parents and watching their kids grow up in a loving environment."

Kate ready to speak

BREAKING HER SILENCE Kate Gosselin, mother of eight, is set to appear on NBC's Today show Monday, according to the show's website, usmagazine.com reports.

It will be the first time Gosselin has spoken publicly since her husband Jon made headlines for dating 22-year-old Hailey Glassman just 20 days after announcing he and his wife were splitting.

A week later, Jon was spotted dining with tabloid reporter Kate Major, who resigned her position over their relationship.

Metro Recipe of the Day

Greek Pastitsio

INGREDIENTS:

6 oz (175 g) elbow macaroni
2 large eggs
1/2 cup (125 ml) cubed feta cheese or 1/3 cup (75 ml) grated Parmesan cheese
1/4 cup (50 ml) 1% milk

FOR MEAT FILLING:

12 oz (375 g) lean ground lamb or ground beef
1 large yellow onion, chopped
1 can (14 oz/298 ml) tomatoes, undrained and cut up
1 tsp (5 ml) dried oregano leaves
1/4 tsp (1 ml) ground cinnamon
1/8 tsp (0.5 ml) each salt and black pepper
2/3 cup (150 ml) grated Parmesan cheese

FOR SAUCE:

1 1/2 cups (375 ml) 1% milk
2 tbsp (25 ml) all-purpose flour
1/4 tsp (1 ml) each salt and black pepper
1/4 cup (50 ml) grated Parmesan cheese

METHOD:

1. Preheat oven to 350 F (180 C). Cook macaroni according to package directions. Drain, rinse, and drain again; transfer to warm bowl. Separate eggs. In small bowl, lightly beat yolks; set aside for sauce. Stir egg whites, feta cheese and 1/4 cup (50 ml) milk into macaroni. Set aside.
2. For meat filling: In large skillet, cook lamb and onion over moderately high heat until meat is browned. Drain off fat. Stir in tomatoes, oregano, cinnamon and 1/8 tsp (0.5 ml) each salt and pepper.

Bring to boil. Lower heat and simmer, covered, 5 minutes. Remove from heat. Stir in 2/3 cup (150 ml) Parmesan cheese. Layer half of macaroni mixture in lightly greased 8" x 8" x 2" (20 cm x 20 cm x 5 cm) baking dish. Top with meat filling, then with remaining macaroni mixture.

3. For sauce: In medium-size pot, whisk together 1 1/2 cups (375 ml) milk, flour and 1/4 tsp (1 ml) each salt and pepper. Cook over moderate heat, whisking constantly, for 8 minutes or until mixture is thickened and bubbly. Slowly stir about 1 cup (250 ml) hot mixture into lightly beaten egg yolks, then return mixture to pot. Cook, stirring constantly, 3 minutes, until mixture thickens. Stir in 1/4 cup (50 ml) Parmesan cheese.
4. Pour sauce over macaroni layer. Bake 30 to 35 minutes, until heated through. Let stand 10 minutes, then serve.

ARIES

MARCH 21-APRIL 20

If you think you cannot lose then you are already halfway towards attaining your goal. Always look on the bright side. Always believe you'll succeed.

TAURUS

APRIL 21-MAY 21

Your energy and enthusiasm, and your willingness to take risks, will impress some very important people today, and increase your chances of success.

LIBRA

SEPT 23-OCT 23

For some reason you have been rather inhibited of late, which is not like you at all. This phase will end over the weekend.

SCORPIO

OCT 24-NOV 22

Something will happen today that angers you, and if you think that a friend or colleague has been lying to you, the fallout could be spectacular.

GEMINI

MAY 22-JUNE 21

Mars in your sign can make you rather emotional at times and the emotion you will experience today is anger. But that may be no bad thing.

SAGITTARIUS

NOV 23-DEC 21

It's now or never. If you don't follow your heart over the next 24 hours you could well miss out for good.

CANCER

JUNE 22-JULY 22

At last you have come to the conclusion that a certain person is no good, that they take without giving anything in return.

CAPRICORN

DEC 22-JAN 20

There is no point trying to get along with someone if everything they say or do rubs you up the wrong way. The time for compromise is long since past.

LEO

JULY 23-AUG 23

There seems to be a lot of noise in your life at the moment and you wish you could just switch off from the world for a while. So what's stopping you?

AQUARIUS

JAN 21-FEB 18

If someone you are close to emotionally is having a hard time, it's unlikely there is anything you can do to make them feel better.

VIRGO

AUG 24-SEPT 22

If someone makes unfounded accusations about you today or tomorrow you must answer back. Others may start to wonder if it's true.

PISCES

FEB 19-MARCH 20

There is no reason why you should not mix business with pleasure today but take care that the pleasure part does not get out of hand.
